

Backing Up Proof

The Kind That Manning People Cannot Deny.

Many an earnest Manning man or woman has publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.

Week after week, month after month you've read their statements.

Would these Manning people recommend any medicine if it were not good? Would they confirm and repeat their statements after years had passed? Local proof is good evidence.

Testimony confirmed years after is better evidence.

The following Manning man's statement leaves no room for doubt.

If your back aches—if your kidneys are weak, profits by Mr. Reardon's experience.

J. E. Reardon, Manning, says: "I suffered from backache and pains across my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me prompt benefit." (Statement given January 31st, 1911.)

DOAN'S ALWAYS EFFECTIVE.

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Reardon said: "Whenever my back or kidneys trouble me, I always use Doan's Kidney Pills and they put me in good shape."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Reardon has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McBirney Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Steam Printing.

On November 29, 1814, a newspaper for the first time was printed by steam. Although the application of steam power to printing machinery had been successfully experimented with some years previously, the hostility of the working printers rendered it inadvisable for the masters to introduce such a startling innovation into their printing houses. Towards the end of 1814, however, the growing circulation of the Times made a change of some kind necessary, and in the face of fierce opposition the second John Walters set up a steam printing press. So on the morning of November 29 the leading article of the Times announced to its readers that they held in their hands that day a copy of the first newspaper to be printed by steam.—London Chronicle.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India both as a preventive and cure for cholera. You may know from this that it can be depended upon for the milder forms of bowel complaint that occur in this country. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Building for Old Age.

The spring and summer of our life may have been fairly pleasant and their enjoyments harmless; but the retrospect is far from satisfying if, when the autumn comes, our fields are empty. It is well, on summer mornings, as we go to our work, to pluck a wayside blossom now and then, or pause to hear the carol of a bird; but our chief concern should be the plowing and sowing that shall yield enduring harvests. It is well to quench our momentary thirst from the brook whose slender flow the dry weather of a single week may leave exhausted; but we shall still need to hew for ourselves unfailing cisterns. To live in such fashion that, while we may do but little harm to others, we make no worthy contributions to their happiness, is to doom ourselves to hunger and thirst in coming days. Not only by the evil that we do, but by the good we leave undone, do we in youth and prime prepare for ourselves an old age of remorseful memories.—Rev. J. Frank Thompson, in Universalist Leader.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.

"I will cheerfully say that Chamberlain's Tablets are the most satisfactory remedy for stomach troubles and constipation that I have sold in thirty-four years drug store service," writes S. H. Murphy, druggist, Wellsburg, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Trees and Man.

"As far as possible, all of us demand trees about our dwellings, for their shade, we say, or their charm, their protection, their architectural value. But at bottom, I believe, all our reasons are the same; we demand trees about our dwellings because deep within us—deep perhaps as the great instincts of the race—is a primal and trustful affection humorously akin to the dog's trust in the table beneath which he lies, whether to escape the heat of summer or the Fourth of July fire-crackers. For all the centuries of upward development, for all our tall cities and snug dwellings, we are close to the ancient mother still. Go out some day into the wild places, let night come on, or a storm, and see how you turn like a homing bird to the shelter of the hemlock thicket! Even on my own little place of a few acres there is a grove of pines near the house, murmurous like the sea, and beside it three gnarled old apple trees which put a green roof over that bit of lawn; and to them I return a dozen times a day out of the sunshine or the moonlight on the garden, as a man returns to the welcome of his roof and hearth."—Walter Prichard Eaton in the Century.

For Croup--Mothers--Always Keep This Handy

The day of the Croup scare is over for those parents who have a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and Tar Compound in the home ready for instant use.

Mrs. Chas. Reitz, Allen's Mills, Pa., writes: "I have used Sloan's Liniment and Tar Compound for the past eleven years and would not be without it. It has saved me many a doctor's bill for colds and croup."

If toward midnight the little ones grow hoarse and croupy, if their breathing becomes wheezy and stuffy, give Sloan's Liniment and Tar Compound. Many a careful mother has been able to ward off an attack of spasmodic croup by its timely use.

If you are awakened by the hoarse brassy cough that means croup, give Sloan's Liniment and Tar Compound at once. It will ease the little sufferers quickly, cut the thick clogging phlegm and soon they will have easy breathing and peaceful quiet sleep.

Duke William's Favorite Town.

William the Conqueror's favorite town was Caen (in Normandy), where he and his duchess, Matilda, he deified the canon law by marrying within the forbidden degrees of consanguinity, did royal penance by building two great abbeys, whose churches of St. Etienne (St. Stephen) and La Trinite contribute so greatly to Caen's beauty today. William's church of St. Etienne, stark and bold and lofty, most wonderfully represents his indomitable spirit and ideas. The smaller, richer and more delicate Trinite is no less characteristically feminine a monument to Duchess Matilda. Another memorial, an insignificant single stone in a pretty, forgotten, flower-starred byway of the old Protestant cemetery, marks the spot where Deau Brummel, the man who for all time made "exquisite propriety" in dress the standard, lies in oblivion beneath the waving grasses of this Norman hillside.—Arthur Stanley Riggs, in the National Geographic Magazine.

Out of Old Albania.

Save in Epirus, where Greek culture holds the towns, and even the Moslem Albanians of the hills write (when they can write at all) in Greek letters, no foreign influence has yet invaded the intimate life of this exclusive race. Individual Albanians have, indeed, given their talents to bring unity or order to the life of other peoples. Half the captains by land and sea of the Greek wars of independence were Albanians from Epirus or the isles. Crispri came from the Albanian colony in Sicily; the khedivial family imposed itself on Egypt; the last grand vizier of the old regime in Turkey was a South Albanian magnate. But no native church, no native literature, no local field for statesmanship has yet exercised the talents of a race which is certainly not the least gifted of the Balkan peoples. Until recently an Albanian educated was an Albanian lost.

Little Plea for the Rich.

History, even in recent times, shows as a matter of hard fact that wealth is not flagrantly misused. Bacon, in slyly warning his readers against those who pretend to despise riches, remarks that no people make worse use of riches when they acquire them. And that inexorable test would be no more merciful if it were applied today. Those who condemn the rich would beyond question do more harm with wealth to themselves and others than is done now by a rich class, of whom the greater part have inherited certain responsibilities, inseparable from their fortune, or have developed a self-restraint in the very process which laboriously built up their capital.

Modern Plays Must Be Costly.

"I have here an idea for a play," said the moving picture author to the producer. "In the first reel an oil tank blows up, in the second an entire railroad train falls into a gorge, in the third a huge steamer sinks at sea, in the fourth a volcanic eruption destroys a city and in the fifth we have a battle scene calling for 10,000 supernumeraries." "Entirely too small for me to fool with," said the producer, doing some rapid figuring with a pencil. "That play wouldn't cost more than $50,000, to stage and I'm not considering anything that involves an expenditure of less than $200,000. The trouble with you authors is that you have no imagination."—Judge.

According to advice from India, there is no reason why small electric vehicles should not replace the rickshaw in hill stations, where these are now in general use. The over all dimensions of the vehicle need not be over eleven feet by five feet.—Popular Science Monthly.

Does Sloan's Liniment Help Rheumatism.

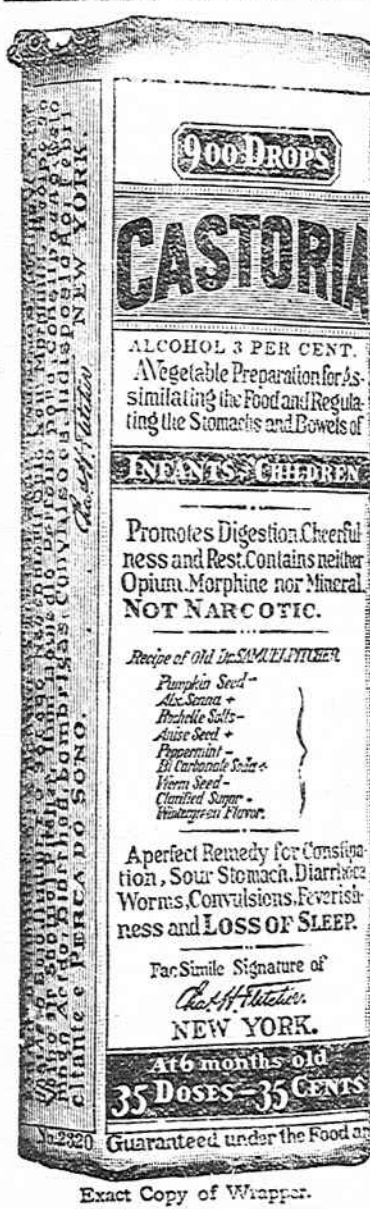

Ask the man who uses it, he knows. "To think I suffered all these years when one 25 cent bottle of Sloan's Liniment cured me," writes one grateful user. "If you have Rheumatism or suffer from Neuralgia, Backache, Soreness and Stiffness, don't put off getting a bottle of Sloan's. It will give you such welcome relief. It warms and soothes the sore, stiff painful places and you feel so much better. Buy it at any Drug Store, only 25 cents.—Adv.

Songs Develop National Spirit.

It seems strange that the world has not done more with singing, that is with popular singing. In this regard we are far behind some of the other nations, for example, the Germans. They have many choral societies, in which they sing songs of the fatherland, and do much to develop the national spirit.

To The Public.
